JOTTINGS from the Jo's Notebook

About Senator Hubbard

Last week an individual called me to ask if I would be talking with Governor Wendell Ford anytime soon. I remarked that I would be seeing the Governor the next day since I would be in Frankfort to attend the meeting of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee and the Jackson-Jefferson Day Dinner in Frankfort.

To which my caller replied: "You'd better tell Ford he's in trouble if he doesn't stop picking on Carroll Hubbard because he (Hubbard) voted against the administration-backed pay raise for high level state employees."

Needless to say that I was somewhat amused to get the call, but not quite. For this isn't the first time that some local resident has called me in defense of Carroll Hubbard, as if an individual were being sacrilegious to disagree with this enigma from Graves County.

Actually, now even Hubbard has assumed an aura of persecution whenever the facts of political life come home to roost in his bailiwick.

The other night on television, in a news report from Frankfort discussing reapportionment of Hubbard's senatorial district Hubbard said: "They're trying to punish me for voting against them."

I was astonished at the temerity of the statement, for I would hope that Hubbard votes for his constituents and according to the dictates of his conscience and not AGAINST anybody. I thought we voted for a man with the courage of his convictions and not for a fellow who has to prevail on the sympathy of his constituents to defend his voting record.

Hubbard's Own Pay Bill

Perhaps what triggered my disgust at Hubbard's pious defense of his vote against the Ford administration's pay raise is that not at any time has Hubbard ever uttered a word that—

HE IS THE SPONSOR OF SENATE BILL NO. 113, A BILL THAT WOULD AUTOMATICALLY GRANT PAY INCREASES TO CIRCUIT JUDGES, JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS, COMMISSIONERS OF THE COURT OF APPEALS, ET AL.

SB113, Hubbard's pay bill, was introduced ON THE SAME DAY, JANUARY 21, as was SB111, the bill which gives Ford the permission, not the legal mandate, to raise salaries of certain governmental officials.

Hubbard's pay bill, when passed by the General Assembly, as it will be, makes the increases mandatory. Ford may use discretion; Hubbard raises the salaries, period... or maybe I should say question mark.

Here's the Bill:

SB 113—Downing, Holoney, Johnson, Baker, N.; Baker, W.; Billings, Cornett, Farris, Freeman, Friend, Garrett, Gentry, Harris, Hicks, Hubbard, Huddleston, Knuckles, Logan, Majors, Middleton, Miller, Mobley, Murphy, Palmer, Plummer, Reichert, Ross, Sheehan, Sullivan, Walters, White, Yocom amend KRS 64.497 to increase the salary of each judge of the Court of Appeals from $26,000 to $29,500 per year; increase the salary of each commissioner of the Court of Appeals from $22,500 to $26,500 per year; amend KRS 64.499 to increase the salary of each circuit judge from $17,500 to $27,500 per year; provide that such salary be inclusive of rather than in addition to compensation for service as special commissioners of the Court of Appeals.

Jan 21—to Appropriations and Revenue

Hard To Understand

Nobody in Frankfort can understand why Hubbard later became so incensed over Ford's pay bill, when Hubbard himself was in a right generous mood almost simultaneously with Administration leaders.

Nor is it easy to understand why Hubbard recently removed his name from SB113, but not much!

Some Frankfort wags say that it just got too obvious, even for Hubbard, to play footsy with the courts and at the same time pretend that he was the great white hope of the lowly taxpayers.

Hubbard is a lawyer, you know.

JUNKED AGAIN: This is an architect's drawing of what the old Coca-Cola bottling company would have looked like had it been converted into a Fulton City Services complex. No cost was given for the architect's rendering above, but the city Monday night paid a statement for more than $4800 for a drawing of plans for a new city hall at the Kitty League Park, which have also been junked.

Fulton Bulldogs Win Tourney At Hickman

The Fulton Bulldogs defeated Western last Saturday night at the Hickman Elementary Gym to win the 8th grade county championship. Fulton jumped out to an early lead and Western was never able to catch up.

In the consolation game the Hickman Wildcats defeated Cayce 46-26 to win third place. Fulton, in a first round game Thursday night, defeated Hickman 29-28. The score was tied 28-28 when a foul was called on Hickman with one second remaining. Patton, who turned in a fine performance, converted and that was the ballgame. Western, also in a first round game, played exceptionally well in winning over Cayce 59-40.

The championship game was expected to be closer than it was. Fulton, with Patton leading the way, got an early lead and was never seriously threatened. Western had a poor shooting night and did not control the boards as was expected. The tournament was a success as witnessed by the large turnout of fans. Parents and students are to be commended for the enthusiasm and sportsmanship shown during the tournament.

Turner's jug manufacturing plant is Fulton's newest industry

Fulton's newest industry has pretty much escaped public notice or fanfare until this week, and there are probably good reasons.

It doesn't occupy a giant building; in fact it is located in a compact corner of a larger building on Fourth Street across the creek from the Turner Dairies Inc. of Fulton. The only suspicion that something "out of the ordinary" exists in that area has been the construction of a special covered passageway over Harris Fork creek between the new industry and the Milk Company bottling and refrigeration plant.

But a new industry it is, and presently even Memphis doesn't have one like it, nor does any community north as far as St. Louis.

The new plastic-jug manufacturing facility of the Turner Milk Company, in operation for three months now, represents an investment of some $250,000 and turns out some 40,000 of the plastic gallon-size jugs a week. It has a capability, operating 7 days a week on a daily 24-hour shift, of producing 133,000 jugs a week! At present Turner Dairies is producing practically all of the production, but the Corporation anticipates the day when it may be running at full capacity and selling its surplus jugs to any industry that wants to package its product in this sturdy, lightweight, easily-disposable "container of the future."

"We always have been last on everything; we wanted to be first on something," commented general manager "Dub" Burnette to this reporter last week. "With this new polyethylene plastic container-making machine, we feel that we are the most up-to-date in the business," added Mr. Burnette, commenting that "there is little doubt that the plastic container is the container of the future for the milk industry."

The new manufacturing plant is almost entirely automated,

Basically, of course, it supplies gallon jugs to the Turner Milk marketing organization, which serves Western Kentucky as far north as Paducah and Western Tennessee down to Memphis.

HOW IT WORKS

As a raw material, plastic is in the form of tiny, hard, white oval-shaped beads. Once the polyethylene is heated it is then dropped into the blowmolding machine that manufactures four jugs simultaneously. These containers travel on a conveyor belt at the rate of 26 jugs per minute (40,000 a week) where they are trimmed or cut to proper size.

The bottle necks are stamped in blue or red ink with brand names. Several familiar brands include: Ryan, E.W. James, Red-White, Turner 2% and Turner, Sunshine 2% and Sunshine, Bi-Rite, IGA, and Sunset Gold.

The marked containers move through a closed-in tunnel to the company annex where the bottles are filled, capped, and packed for shipping. The Pure Milk Company also bottles homogenized milk in half-gallon paper containers as well as the plastic jugs, butter, skimmed milk, and half-plants of homogenized milk and chocolate milk.

Commission Hikes Garbage Rates; Hints At New Site For City Hall

by R. Paul Westpheling III

The Fulton City Commission met in regular session Monday night and —voted to increase the rates on garbage collection in residential and business areas;

—hinted that a site has been selected for the new city hall;

—voted to impose an "occupational" license on owners of rental property;

—vetoed the acquisition of the old Coca-Cola plant as a facility for a new city hall.

The proposed purchase of Fulton's abandoned Coca-Cola plant, for use as a multi-purpose city services building was vetoed at Monday night's city commission meeting. The building would have housed the city's police and fire departments; a city hall; jail and city courts.

Rejection of the proposed purchase came after several commission members voiced strong disapproval over the cost of the renovation of the building, located at the intersection of U. S. highway 45 and Kentucky Avenue.

City Engineer Jim Huff, who has been conducting a study on the feasibility of purchasing the property, reported that the structure and land would cost almost $179,000. Commissioner C. R. Bennett pointed out that for that much money, the city could build a completely new complex.

Mayor and acting City Manager Nelson Tripp turned the matter back to the City Hall Committee, a group of citizens looking into where to put a new City Hall and city services complex.

Mayor Tripp was asked if any other sites are under consideration at the present time. He told The News that other sites were coming under scrutiny by the City Hall Study Committee, but that the locations would not be made public until "something more definite" had been decided upon.

Tripp says those locations, if made public, would skyrocket land values and make acquisition of the needed land "almost prohibitive."

But the need for a new building was strongly re-emphasized by City Engineer Huff. Huff pointed to the age and condition of the present City Hall, and to the need for more space to house a new fire truck, which the city purchased from the American Fire Equipment Company in Louisville in January.

Mayor Tripp jokingly told commission members, "if we don't find a new building for the fire truck, we'll have to stick it in a tent somewhere, until a new building can be acquired, or built."

In a 25 page report, released Monday night, Huff said the Coca-Cola plant was adequate in size for what the city needed and that for its age, the building is in good condition. The report concluded, however, that

More Money For Lawyers

But the increases for judges, commissioners, etc. is not the only legislation Hubbard has introduced that would cost immensely more, over the years, than Ford's pay bill.

SB42, the very first bill introduced by Hubbard during this session of the General Assembly seeks a new circuit judgeship, and a new commonwealth attorney's position, exclusively for HUBBARD'S GRAVES COUNTY.

Some estimates indicate that this will cost approximately $125,000 to $150,000 a year, from now on, forever. Another $600,000 every four years of our tax money in Fulton, Hickman Carlisle and Marshal counties, just to benefit Graves County. Ford doesn't have to give pay increases... but can you imagine ever doing away with a court.

Oh, I know all about how crowded the courts are supposed to be, and how criminals need more justice, and all that mumbo-jumbo. But why not a judgeship in one of the other counties in Hubbard's district?

Simple!!! Hubbard is from Graves County.

And There's More!

Other Hubbard tax-biting legislation:

There's SB56 that grants income tax deductions for retirement pay for Federal Civil Service and military personnel. What about state employees, municipal employees, etc.?

—SB137: Exempt from sales tax tangible personal property sold or used by any political subdivision of the state. What about city and county subdivisions?

—SB147: In effect increase the amount of sales tax paid when buying a new or used car, or transferring auto property.

—SB186: Increase the salaries of jurors in courts at various levels. Also to set added costs in circuit court cases.

These bills were the ones introduced by Hubbard up through February 25. There is still more time to introduce more bills that will dig into your pocket book and mine.

Hubbard has introduced very little legislation in this session that would directly assist the rank and file taxpayers in his district. Anyone wishing to see the latest copy of the Legislative Record may do so by coming to my office, either in Fulton or in Hickman.

We're Being Punished

Nobody is punishing Senator Carroll Hubbard. But Hubbard's constituents are taking a brutal beating in being represented by a man who apparently believes what Barnum didn't... that you can't fool all of the people all of the time.

First Meeting

I attended my first meeting of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee in Frankfort last Saturday. I must say that in all the years I have been interested in politics I have scarcely been in more distinguished company or among more prominent leaders in the Democratic party.

There are only 55 members of the State Central Executive Committee from over the state. I don't mind telling you that I was certainly honored to be included in the group. I have found out that this is the first time in the history of Fulton County that a county resident has been on the state committee.

I also attended the annual Jackson-Jefferson Day Dinner Saturday night. It was entirely different from any that I have ever attended. No long speeches, and no apparent politicking. It was a real fun affair.

I enjoyed having dinner with Shirley Ford Dexter and her husband Bill on one side and Katie Peden on the other. Katie sends her regards to her many friends in the area. She certainly was right in there pitching for us during all the negotiations for the Carbo-rundum plant.

Incidentally, both Katie and former Governor Ned Breathitt told me that their plans NOT to run for the Senate this year are firm and unchangeable. One other person who has been talked about as a possible Democratic candidate is the dynamic John Young Brown, the Kentucky Fried Chicken executive. Brown, who was master of ceremonies for the dinner made it clear that he is not a candidate this year either.

This John Young Brown is the rising star in Democratic politics. Watch him! He certainly is a young man on the go... and brilliant too!

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

Something interesting in new books received at the Fulton Library this week.

BLACK COACH, by Pat Jordan. This is the story of Burlington, North Carolina, its people, and the conflicts which arose when Cicero Abraham Frye, the white head football coach, at the town's predominantly white Walter Williams High School, was replaced by Jerome Evans, a black. Would the players and assistant coaches take orders from this man, or would Frye manage to destroy Evans before the school year even began? Would the first warm night of the football season bring the townsfolk out to cheer or to riot? Read this book and see what happened.

THE JUPITER CRISIS, by William Harrington. This tale of international intrigue and suspense begins when a U.S. spy satellite is captured by the Russians, and they release its startling photographs, revealing it to be a dangerous spy ship. A young reporter assigned to the story, Glib Hubbard, begins linking together national political schemes and international politics as he risks his life following up baffling leads in the U.S., Europe, and behind the Iron Curtain.

THE RUNAWAY HEART, by Arlene Hale. Larissa Chandler had always been proud—her fiery hair and flashing eyes clearly reflecting the strength and character steered inside her. And now she needed all the pride and courage she could summon. A sudden and untimely death, the humiliating disgrace of prison, above all, the shame descending on her brother whom she loved so deeply—all this was more than Larissa could bear. She would have to leave Nebraska, the flat, parched land she had always known, the faded gray house, the garden and barn. To recover that pride again, she would have to search for a new place to call home.....

THE FOURTH WORLD OF THE HOPIS, by Harold Courlander. An outstanding authority on the oral literature of many tribal cultures, Harold Courlander has visited and worked among the Hopi Indians of Northern Arizona, gathering myths, legends, and recollections that constitute a record of ancient Hopi life. He says, "apart from the excavations and conclusions of anthropologists, the oral tradition is the only instrument we have for penetrating into the Hopi past. But out of the oral tradition we get insights into values and motivations that are not visible in potsherds."

Haws Memorial

Mrs. Lillie McGinnis has a granddaughter, Brandi Lee Wilson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wilson. Mrs. McGinnis artodged the plaque just for this cute little "Miss".

Mary Ann Fields and Marion Walker came out to Haws Monday morning to help us without artodged. They brought us some interesting pictures and wood. We can certainly use both. We enjoyed chatting while we artodged.

We almost didn't have a workshop that morning, but thanks to Nancy Fossett, she saved the day. We were out of our artodged and planned to get some from Helen Allen. We called and were sorry to hear that she's in the hospital. So several phone calls later we remembered Nancy saying her daughter Leslie had some and yes we could use it.

CAPITOL DIGEST

Edited by—
JIM WARREN

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 25.—Chris Cornett, D-Hindman, has introduced a bill in the General Assembly which he says would "strike down" several Court of Appeals decisions upholding broad-form deeds for strip mining coal.

The measure would: * Hold mine operators and mineral rights holders liable to surface owners for damages caused by improper reclamation of the land. * Ban all strip and auger mining on slopes of more than 14 degrees without the surface owners' written consent.

Cornett, a former circuit judge, said his bill contradicts "court decisions (freeing miners from liability to surface owners)...and will supersede court rulings...although technically, legislation can't be said to overturn court decisions."

Opponents of efforts to outlaw the broad-form deed have argued that no contract can be canceled by a state law. But Cornett added, "It is my theory of the law there is no contract for the purpose of destroying property."

The Kentucky Senate's only woman member, legislation that would allow Louisville Democrat Georgia use of such systems in Davis, introduced a bill that would prohibit age and sex discrimination in employment, agent for Computer Election Drafted by the Kentucky Systems, Inc., of Berkeley, Commission on Human Rights, Calif., asked the large measure would include the Jefferson County legislative words "sex" and "age between delegation to support such a 40 and 65" in sections of the bill.

Sen. Lacey Smith, a D-Louisville, a co-sponsor of computer-like operation using the bill, said he plans to offer punched cards automatically amendments to bring housing tabulated when the polls close.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: You've said repeatedly in your column that an adopted child should be told early that he was adopted, that to do otherwise could cause serious emotional damage. The experts seem to have definite views on the subject, but I've never heard an adopted child quoted on how he feels about it. My mother told me I was adopted when I was about four years old. She read me a story from a book about a "chosen" child and how much the mommy and daddy wanted him. When she finished reading I said, "That's a nice story but I'm not adopted." My mother said, "Yes you are," and that was the end of the discussion. I can't remember feeling upset or traumatized. It never made any difference to me. I never thought about it when I was growing up and I still don't.

I am nearly 20 now and our family life is far from total sweetness and light. We disagree on religion, politics and sex but in a crisis everyone comes through. Deep down, I love and respect one another. These people who raised me are my parents in every sense of the word. They have taught me how to live and how to love. I can never thank them enough. I am—Your Child

Dear Friend: Thank you for a letter that is sure to touch the heart of every adoptive parent. I will not print the name of your city because thousands of adoptive parents would like to believe it was written by their child. Let's let them.

Dear Ann Landers: Our widower father will be celebrating his 65th birthday in a few months and my sister and I want to give a surprise party for him. The other evening we sat down with our two aunts to discuss the guest list and ran into a fantastic pile of problems. It seems that several members of Dad's family are not on speaking terms with Mom's relatives. Also, some of Dad's relatives do not speak to each other.

We considered a variety of seating arrangements and various techniques for staggering the hours so that the batters would not encounter one another. It became terrifically complicated and after four hours of switching and shifting, many problems were still unresolved.

At midnight my husband marched into the living room in his bathrobe and announced, "This is ridiculous! Invite them all and to hell with it." The aunts insisted it would be catastrophic and would result in "raw feelings and unpleasantness for many people, especially Dad. What do you say?"—Lee

Dear Lee: I'm with your husband. If any relative does not approve of the guest list he can leave. Moreover, I predict his departure would serve only to improve the calibre of the party.

Dear Ann Landers: Some women slip in and out of menopause with no trouble. But for others it can be very trying. When a hot flash hits me I turn red from my neck up. My face registers a vivid blush and I am very embarrassed by this neon advertisement that I am in the change of life.

My doctor has advised me against taking medication because of a family history of cancer so I must let nature take its course. But what do I do about a co-worker who draws attention to my red neck and florid face whenever she sees it? This woman is sweet and kind and apparently unaware of my anguish. What do you suggest?—Middle-Aged Embarrassment in Asheville

Dear Middle: I'm --1,500 miles away. You work with the woman five days a week. And you ask ME to solve a problem that you could have solved months ago with one simple sentence. Sample: "Please cut it out." Now it's in print. Hand it to her.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 35¢ in coin to this newspaper.

SUMMER

We wake early in the morning, there is so much to do. Hours we looee in the summer are so few. With blades growing and grass to hoe Working the flowers and the yard to mow.

At times it seems it is a task We just keep going and doing our best. Then when we catch up on the jobs we had Somehow now it doesn't seem so bad.

I enjoy the big tree in the yard. That is where I sit when I'm tired. This tree was small a few years past My how that tree has grown so fast.

I like to set there at the end of the day. It is a real comfort in a way. Everything seems so quiet and still. It is then the real blessing I can feel.

As I set here my mind wanders far I look above and there is a star. I think of my loved ones in the city so wide And ask God to please stay by their side.

It seems time is slipping by so fast It won't be long until summer is past. Then we will say, well, where did it go. When we see the ground covered with snow.

Features of the meeting will be a discussion of the proposed new organization for Methodist women and an address by Mrs. David J. Cathcart, currently serving as the Women's Division staff located in the Nashville region.

"We want this to be a banner day for the women of the Paris District," Mrs. Wayne Lamb of Paris, President of the Memphis Conference, said in urging a full attendance.

Termed "Mission Interpretation," the theme for the meeting will be "God's Mission—Our Mission." The host pastor, Rev. W. H. Harpole, will give the morning's meditation, and Mrs. Lamb will introduce the guest speaker. Special music will be brought by Charles Bangeau of Paris.

Mrs. Carl Robertson is president of the host society.

A new organization for Methodist women has been proposed by the United Methodist Women's Division and will be considered by the General Conference of the church when it meets in Atlanta in April.

If approved by the governing body of the Church, the organization would succeed the present women's groups, the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild.

"This is not a merger of the two organizations or an absorption of one by the other, but something new and different," Mrs. Wayne Lamb of Paris, Memphis Conference President said today.

A planning committee of twenty-four women from all parts of the United States has been appointed and is currently meeting to construct the framework of the new organization which will be presented to the General Conference. A name has not yet been chosen.

Murray's Imes Is Youngest Member Of Kentucky Assembly

By Frank Coots
State News Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Rep. Kenneth C. Imes is currently the youngest member of the General Assembly and may well be the youngest ever to serve.

Kentucky's Constitution requires a member of the House to be at least 24 years old. Imes just was 24 when he was elected to represent the people of Calloway and Trigg counties. He turned 25 Feb. 13.

The Murray Democrat said he does not know for sure whether there has ever been a younger member to serve in the legislature because records are incomplete, but "some of the older members of the House tell me there hasn't been anyone younger in the last 30 years."

Imes, who was a member of the Murray State Young Democrats in college, said he has been interested in politics "ever since I got out of the cowboys and Indians stage," so the decision to run for the House was not a major change of direction for him.

"He said he is 'well pleased' with his new job, but is 'disappointed' at the pace of the legislature."

"It's slow," he said, then quickly added that perhaps this is justified. "You have to keep in mind your legislation affects three million people."

He does, however, see the need for the Assembly to meet in annual session, perhaps limiting each session to 45 days. He said at present Kentucky's executive branch is one of the most powerful in the nation and annual sessions would enable the legislature to become more independent.

Imes feels it is important for a legislator to maintain effective communications with his constituents in order to remove the suspicion he says Kentuckians have developed toward the Assembly.

To further this goal he writes a regular column for one of the newspapers in his district while the legislature is in session. "I am endeavoring to acquaint people with what is going on up here," he explained.

As far as developing any philosophy about the duties of an elected representative is concerned, Imes said he tries to put his constituency first. "Primarily I am here to represent my district," he said, but a legislator "must keep in mind the effects of any piece of legislation on the commonwealth" as a whole.

DEATHS

Mrs. Jodie C. Kort

Mrs. Jodie Cohn Kort, who for 26 years transcribed books into braille and taught others how to do it, died at 5:40 a.m. Tuesday, February 15 in Louisville Hebrew Home. She was 82 and the widow of Ben Kort.

Mrs. Kort retired as chairman of the Committee on Jewish Literature for the Blind in the Adath Israel Sisterhood in 1959, because of failing health. She took up the work in 1933 after she had been asked to be chairman of the Committee. In order to be active in the committee's work, Mrs. Kort took a six-months correspondence course in braille through the Library of Congress. Passing the course qualified her to transcribe books to teach blind persons to read braille and to instruct sighted persons in teaching the system.

She taught blind men in Nichols Hospital and as a tri-state chairman of the Literature Committee, she organized transcribing units in Nashville and Knoxville, Tennessee; Columbus, Ohio; and B'rith and Shalom congregations in Louisville.

Mrs. Kort was a native of Fulton, going to Louisville in 1912 to attend Bryant and Stratton Business College. Her father was a well known dry goods merchant in Fulton many years ago. She was the sister of the late Dr. Sheldon Cohn, a well known eye, ear and throat specialist here.

There are no immediate survivors. Expressions of sympathy may take the form of gifts to the Louisville Hebrew Home.

Preston A. Conn

Preston Artell Conn, Obion County native, died at the Western State Hospital in Bolivar, Tennessee Wednesday, February 23, at 4:30 p.m. He was 71.

Born November 27, 1900 in Obion County, he was the son of the late Harvey and Maggie Conn. He spent several years in the army and formerly was employed as a barber. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

TURNER'S JUG—

WHY USE PLASTIC

What is polyethylene? It is a thermo-plastic material made from ethylene gas that oil refineries have burned off as a useless by-product when refining crude oil. Containing ideal properties for packaging milk and juices and unaffected by water and a large number of chemicals, polyethylene is impervious to food acids. Withstanding temperatures down to -100 degrees F without becoming brittle, polyethylene can be molded into container shape by the blowmolding process when heated to 375 degrees F. There are four basic advantages to polyethylene. Because plastic had trouble competing with paper as container material, it is now thinner and reduces the weight of material used, making less waste. Polyethylene milk bottles can be disposed of by sanitary landfill or incineration. The disposal of this material will not contribute to the pollution of air, water, and earth. Reducing the total amount of solid waste and conserving natural resources, polyethylene is a safe material that presents no hazards like broken glass or jagged metal to life or property when discarded.

So are you a little thirsty for something that not only tastes good but is good for your health? Go open that refrigerator door and get a glass of cold milk—but first look at the container. If it's a plastic jug, you know it was made here in Fulton, no matter whose label is on it!

Commission—

Continued from page one there was some question as to the feasibility of the site, because of some opposition by Fulton's Urban Renewal Agency, which is developing that and other land in Missionary Bottoms.

Price of the building and lot was set at $40,000 with the remainder of the cost ($139,000) going for remodeling, roof repair, plumbing, electrical work and a general renovation of the structure and its environs.

In other business before the commission, garbage collection rates within the city limits were raised $50 a month to $2.00. This fifty cent increase applies to residential garbage collections, with a slightly higher increase slated for commercial businesses. The increase for businesses would be based on the number of collections made per week and the size of the containers used to store the refuse.

Commissioner Paul Kasnow said of the rate increases, "the fifty cent increase is still a bargain for the service rendered." He also pointed to the purchase of a sanitation packer and a bulldozer and said the increase will help defray costs.

Representatives of Ross and Castleberry architects, a Paducah based firm, appeared before the commission with bill in hand, for services rendered in drawing schematic diagrams for a proposed City Hall at the Kitty League Ball Park. The Commission voted to pay the $4,800 owed the firm. The representatives explained that if any definite plans were made for construction of a City Hall at another location, other than the one just mentioned, plans through the schematic phase would be provided at no extra cost.

Citizens have voiced strong opposition to locating City Hall at the Ball Park. They claim it would remove the government too far from the downtown business district.

The Commission also voted in favor of requiring permits for those who presently use the city landfill. The price for these permits range from $20 to $30, depending on the size of the load being dumped. These permits apply to regular users of the dump, who are not on the city garbage collection routes. For those in the city who use the dump occasionally, a permit will be required, however, at no cost. They can be obtained from City Hall, and must be presented to the operator on duty before entrance to the landfill is permitted.

In final business, Fulton's City Commission voted to take rental property out of the hands of the housing and building inspection department, and placing it under the jurisdiction of an occupational license. The action will result in owners of rental property paying an annual $5.00 fee for an occupational license, with inspection coming on a neighborhood basis and being carried out in one section of the city each year, rather than in scattered areas annually.

The next regular commission meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m., March 13.

INTERVAL means keeping proper space between cars when driving, good practice for every motorist.

Barry's Shoes Weren't Made For Walking

The story begins the night before Annual Training 1971. The Scout and Mortar Platoon, 1-123d Armor of Hickman, Kentucky, were to leave for Fort Hood, Texas, at 0600 hours on July 9th.

The men were to arrive at 0500 hours. At 0455 hours, the subject at hand arrived wearing blue jeans and cowboy boots. He had his fatigues in the car to change at the Armory. He, like so many of the other men, had packed his duffle bag and footlocker on the truck previously.

Rushing to get into his fatigues, PFC Harry S. Barry, Jr. of Hickman realized that his boots were both left boots, PFC Barry went to his Platoon Sergeant, SFC James C. Nabors, to explain his situation. There he was with two left boots and his others stored away at the front of the truck. He tried to explain to SFC Nabors that his wife had helped him to pack. She packed the clothing while Barry packed the field equipment. Unknowingly she had packed the right boot of the pair he was going to wear and the right boot of the extra pair.

With only minutes left before time to leave, PFC Barry decided to leave the boots on the truck and go to Texas wearing both left boots.

Fellowship Funds Approved For Use At University

MURRAY, Ky. — Notification has been received at Murray State University that federal funds have been approved for five continuing and six new two-year fellowships in the graduate program for community college teacher preparation.

Dr. Charles Tolley, director of higher education and program coordinator at Murray State, said the latest funding of about $65,000 from the U.S. Office of Education brings the total allocation since the program was initiated in 1969 to about $290,000.

To begin next fall and continue through the summer of 1974, the fellowships must be received by

March 1. A committee on the campus at Murray State will select fellowship recipients from the eligible graduate students who apply. Awards will be announced by April 5.

Applications or requests for new fellowships will bring to 2, the number financed at Murray State, including 10 for the 1969-71, six for 1970-72, and five for 1971-73.

Murray State was one of 80 colleges and universities located in 41 states and the District of Columbia to be approved for fellowship funds under the Education Professions Development Act, Part E. The original appropriation to the university was for more than $100,000.

Tolley said he is pleased with the interest that has been shown in the program to prepare personnel for teaching in two-year colleges.

"These new fellowships will provide the university an opportunity to improve the structure of the existing program and to make a significant contribution to the growing two-year college system," he added.

Fellowships include provision for $2,400 for the first year and $2,600 for the second year, with an additional $500 per year for each eligible dependent and payment of resident or non-resident fees.

Part of the two-year program for fellowship recipients will be a semester as an intern in a two-year college.

Applications for the six new additional information may be addressed to: Dr. Charles Tolley, Director of Higher Education, School of Education, Murray State University, Murray, Kentucky, 42071.

Balloonists Lost Exploring Arctic

STOCKHOLM — Swedish engineer Salomon A. Andree was the first person to attempt Arctic exploration by air. He left Danskoya, Spitsbergen, in a balloon in 1897 and headed for the North Pole.

The fate of Andree and his two companions was unknown until the remains of his expedition were found in 1930 at Kvitoya Island, between Spitsbergen and Franz Josef Land.

COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL
 Air Conditioning and heating
 FIVE YEAR CX GUARANTEE

Our Five-Year Guarantee for your new air conditioning equipment will take care of the cost of parts, service labor and refrigerant for a period of five years from the installation date.

Some of the important features of this insured warranty are:

1. The warranty is non-cancellable. In the unlikely event something should happen to our company, another qualified company will continue to service your equipment through the full five-year period (at no cost to you.)

2. The warranty covers air conditioning equipment installed at "your address". This means that it automatically is transferred to a new owner should you sell.

3. Whenever your air conditioning equipment requires repair or replacement of a component part, we will perform the work required during normal working hours at no charge to you. This includes parts, labor and refrigerant required. However, it does not include cleaning or replacement of your air filters, which must be maintained by you. Other items excluded (which rarely, if ever, require service) are cabinets, painting, trim, etc., and it does not cover maintenance items such as lubrication, cleaning and inspections.

Naturally, we cannot be responsible for conditions beyond our control, such as damage caused by fire, floods, windstorms and lightning. However, property insurance normally covers most of these accidents. And, of course, we cannot be held responsible for vandalism, misuse or willful neglect.

NOTE: Belts are excluded on systems over 5 tons.

DO YOU HAVE A DOUBT ABOUT THE QUALITY OF OUR "PRIVATE" BRANDS?

We know that some people do.
They still think that if the price is low,
the quality must be low.

And they can't understand how
A&P can sell an A&P Brand for less than the top quality national brand... without sacrificing quality.

They overlook three eye-openers:

1. Aside from being the world's largest food retailer,
A&P is also one of the largest food processors.
2. Even with products we don't process ourselves, we buy directly from the producer and eliminate many middlemen costs.
3. Every item which bears the A&P name is as good as...
or better than... comparable national brands.

That last point is rigid policy from which we never deviate and is easy for you to prove without risking a nickel.

Just try a shopping-cart full of A&P Brands, now, while the big sale is on.

If you're not satisfied,
we'll give you back every last nickel.

UT-Martin Asks Books For Library

A special project to raise funds for the purchase of 5,000 new volumes for the University of Tennessee at Martin's Paul Meek Library has been launched by the UTM Development Committee, headed by Hardy Graham of Union City.

According to Bob G. Cole, UTM director of development, the project is the largest and most ambitious undertaking to be directed by the 24-man voluntary citizens' group. When successfully completed, it will represent a most significant contribution to the campus. Every student, faculty member and area citizen will benefit from the increased research tools these new, badly-needed volumes will provide, Mr. Cole added. Named chairman of the special projects subcommittee to direct the campaign is Horace Dunagan, president of First State Bank of Caruthersville and Hayti, Mo. A former UTM student, he earned the bachelor's degree in agriculture at UTM

Knoxville. Selected to serve with Mr. Dunagan are Mayor Ray Smith Camden, attorney W. Frank Crawford of Memphis, merchant Robert Holman of Trenton and Eighth District Congressman Ed Jones of Yorkville. "The UTM Development Committee believes there is no better way to touch the lives of all students than through expanded research facilities such as the Paul Meek Library," said Mr. Dunagan. "By U.S. Library standards, we should have 250,000 books on our shelves for a student body of 5,000. Currently there is a deficiency and our committee wants to improve this situation." The cost of a volume ranges between $9 and $10, said head librarian Joel Stowers. In effect, the development committee is launching a campaign to raise more than $45,000 in new volumes. "It's a big goal," said Mr. Dunagan, "but we are confident that there is sufficient support to help us put this project over the established goal." One new source of library support is coming from individuals and organizations who wish to leave books as "Crying Revealing" MONTREAL —A baby's cry should be tape-recorded at birth in order to alert physicians of possible neurological problems in the infant, a Miami, Fla., phonetics specialist says. Dr. Henry Truby, attending

Fulton, Ky. Thursday, March 2, 1972 Page 8 the Congress of Phonetic Sciences, has been studying new-born babies "cry-prints" since the mid-1950s. He plays the recorded cries in a machine called a spectrogram which translates the sound into a pattern on paper. "For centuries," said the phonetics researcher, "midwives, mothers, nurses or obstetricians have at one time or another said of an infant: 'I don't like the way the baby is crying.' "If he cries peculiarly, chances are there's something wrong. This can range from serious brain damage to a simple speech defect. "With cry-printing, we now have tremendous potential for determining the physiological and pathological conditions of the infant."

Murray Petitions Start Move To Oppose Gasoline Tax Hike

MURRAY, Ky. — The Kentucky oil industry has indicated support for a statewide petition campaign against a proposed increase in the state gasoline tax.

The action follows a brief signature drive in this southwest Kentucky city, where nearly 3,000 names were collected in barely a week.

In a related action, a Murray legislator said he will introduce substitute revenue measures that would eliminate both the proposed two-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax increase and the proposal to abolish the sales tax on food without reducing state income.

Tom Maxedon, executive director of the Kentucky Petroleum Council, said in Louisville his office has been flooded with calls from Kentucky gasoline jobbers, inquiring about a petition campaign since the petitions began circulating at Murray service stations on Feb. 11.

Maxedon said jobbers tell him their customers are coming in to sign petitions.

Maxedon said the council, which represents the oil industry in Kentucky, is instructing jobbers to make petitions available, "and if they can't do it, we'll do it for them."

976 Names On Petition
State Rep. Kenneth C. Imes, D-Murray, said 976 names were collected on unpublished petitions circulated Feb. 11-12. Then, the city's gasoline distributors ran a newspaper advertisement Feb. 15, saying, in part, "Don't you think gasoline has been taxed enough?" and asking for signatures.

Rudy Lovett, the Gulf Oil distributor in Murray, said 2,980 signatures had been collected through Monday.

Imes said he would introduce his legislation in the form of a resolution and a proposed amendment to the gasoline tax legislation next week.

Proposes Alternatives
He proposes to:

—Eliminate the gasoline tax increase.
—Eliminate a proposal to remove the sales tax from food.
—Provide for a sales tax rebate for food purchases for low-income families.

Imes said rebating the food sales tax to low-income families only would preserve $40 million annually that would be lost with a general elimination of sales tax on food.

This, he said, would more than offset the expected income from the gasoline tax increase.

Further, Imes said, he would specify that in the second year of the biennium $9 million be allocated to the cities accomplishing the same objective.

Talked With Constituents
Gov. Wendell Ford indicated could be accomplished by turning back 1/2-cent of the tax increase to cities.

Imes said he is acting after requesting views of his constituents on both the removal of the sales tax on food and the gasoline tax.

He said he received 80 letters on the sales tax and 78 opposed removal because they felt the tax would simply be made up somewhere else.

He said he received 50 letters on the gasoline tax, with 48 opposing.

"It is my contention that we will pay more for groceries if the sales tax is removed," Imes said.

He contended grocers will be forced to replace checkout machines to handle both taxable and nontaxable items. He said bookkeeper and checkout personnel must be better qualified and, therefore, must be paid higher salaries.

price of the groceries and goods he sells. In all probability, our groceries will cost substantially more with the sales tax removed.

"It's not going to save the people of Kentucky a penny, not a single dime."

For an average store with three checkout lanes, he said the grocer's overhead will increase by $13,000, "and the only way he can break even will be to substantially increase the
